

Clare Stone — Executive Director of Quality

Clare has been a nurse in the NHS for over 20 years working primarily in community settings and has a special interest in the care of older people.

Passionate about improving quality and safety for patients, Clare also worked at South East Coast SHA leading on the Energise for Excellence in Care Programme which has now been brought under the Chief Nursing Officer of England's Leading Change, Adding Value framework building on the 6Cs.

She also co-ordinated the involvement of all providers in the region in the Safe Care pilot for the Safety Thermometer, now a nationally mandated tool for the delivery of the Safe Care CQUIN. Clare then became Deputy Director of Nursing at Surrey PCT and led the transition of quality from PCT to CCGs by playing a key role in supporting the CCG authorisation process. Clare is now Executive Director for the Surrey Heartlands Clinical Commissioning Groups of North West Surrey, Guildford and Waverley and Surrey Downs.

Clare's portfolio includes nurse leadership and monitoring patient safety and quality of commissioned services.
