

Sumona Chatterjee — Executive Director of Strategic Commissioning

Sumona Chatterjee was appointed as Director of Strategic Commissioning for Surrey Heartlands in November 2017. An MBA qualified healthcare leader she has twenty years of extensive health commissioning experience working across a range of organisations acquiring through the course of her career commissioning, stakeholder management, service redesign, commercial and procurement expertise.

Starting her career in a Provider Trust subsequently followed by the Strategic Health Authority, PCTs, CSU and CCGs she has held several senior leadership roles with the most recent as Director of Commissioning at North West Surrey CCG.

She is keen to put her experience in practice to realise the ambitions of the devolution agenda in Surrey working with system partners in the integration of health and social care services and providing high quality, sustainable services for the people in Surrey.

Back to Governing Body and CCG Structure